

MANUSCRIPT SUBMISSIONS

JOURNAL OF PUBLIC PROCUREMENT

Our journal always welcomes manuscript submissions and symposium proposals. Manuscripts consist of four types: academic research, international academic research, cases (describing current practices), and book review essays.

We are particularly interested in symposiums. If you see a major theme or issue (such as e-procurement, procurement reform, procurement capacity building, procurement corruption, etc.) that a single paper can't cover in depth, you can submit a symposium proposal with a brief outline of what will be developed in depth in a number of papers.

In order to save time and mailing costs, please e-mail your manuscripts and/or symposium proposals to the responsible editor as follows:

1. For academic manuscripts, and symposium proposals:

Khi V. Thai, Professor, Editor
E-mail: thai@fau.edu

2. For International academic manuscripts:

Jan Telgen, Professor, International Section Editor
E-mail: j.telgen@utwente.nl

3. For practitioners' papers:

Robert E. Lloyd, Editor, (Federal government cases and papers)
E-mail: LloydRE@state.gov

Darin Mathews, Editor, (State and Local government case and papers)
E-mail: darinm@co.multnomah.or.us

4. For book review essays:

Wendell C. Lawther, Associate Professor, Book Review Editor
E-mail: lawther@mail.ucf.edu

For all questions related to the journal and suggestions for improvement of the journal quality, please feel free to contact Professor Khi V. Thai.
